FOREWORD

All serial holdings (journals, reports, bulletins, periodicals, etc.) are shelved alphabetically by the titles underlined in this listing. Many cross references for each serial holding have been included, but the shelf location is determined by the underscored title.

The following symbols have been used in this list:

INTRODUCTION

The library is a self-service tool for laboratory personnel containing primarily fishery biology, marine biology, and oceanography literature. Material may be borrowed from the serial section (bulletins, journals, reports, etc.), the book section, and the reprint section. Reference material, however, remains in the library.

The procedure for borrowing is simple: each borrower has his own set of loan cards with his name in large letters across the top. He writes down the date borrowed on the card found at the back of the book or serial, and places this card in the envelope attached to his loan card. The loan card together with the book card is then put on the shelf in place of the borrowed material. This procedure provides quick location of borrowed materials.

Reprints are shelved alphabetically by the author's name. Many of the reprints have cards, but a new policy of shelving reprints without cards has been instituted. In order to borrow these reprints, the borrower must make out his own book card with the title and the author's name and place it in his loan card envelope. The latest reprints are displayed on top of the card catalog.

In addition to the general reprint collection, the library maintains a specific collection of reprints of papers written by the people from this laboratory. It is both appreciated and necessary that authors contribute 25-50 copies of their papers to keep this collection complete.

The reference section includes general and scientific dictionaries, atlases, foreign language dictionaries, directories, bibliographies, indexes, lists, tide tables, and a set of encyclopedias. The far stack contains a supply of various fishery leaflets and circulars for answering questions and requests. Papers from the ICNAF and ICES meetings may be found in the designated file cabinets. And lastly, there is an abstract card system to the left of the regular card catalog.
